CAMPING TIME AGAIN—Once again it's time for White 'Oak Y's Men to sponsor the two-day camp for boys in the Cone Mills area. The camp will be August 13-14 at Camp Herman Recreation Center. Those desiring to attend are asked to register at Proximity YMCA or with any member of White Oak Y's Men's Club. There is no charge for attending. Above and below are some typical scenes at last year Y's Men's Camp. This photo shows boys arriving.

SPECIAL GUESTS AT GRANITE—Shown are special guests from Eno Plant, Hillsboro at the supervisors' banquet at Granite Plant, Haw River recently. They are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hughes and son, foreground, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Green. Mr. Green is manager and Mr. Hughes, superintendent at Eno, which makes some of the corduroy finished by Granite.

WIDE INTEREST SHOWN—Great interest by sanitary engineers in this and other countries, including India, Peru, Formosa and Paraguay, has been shown in Cone Mills research in textile waste treatment. Here is one of the many groups which have visited Cone Mills Laboratory to see their two pilot plants in operation. Shown above, clockwise, are Dr. Dan Okun, head of the department of Sanitary Engineering, University of North Carolina, School of Public Health; Gordon Battle, sanitarian, Guilford County Health Department; R. H. Souther, director of research for Cone Mills, explaining the new waste treatment technique; Dr. Sidney Chipman, professor of maternal and child health in the School of Public Health, UNC, Chapel Hill; Mrs. Margaret Dolan, associate professor of public health nursing in the University School of Public Health, and Mrs. Nancy Bosworth, Guilford County Health Department, chairman of the nutrition committee of the Greensboro Community Council. Other mill groups have already successfully applied Cone research data from these pilot plant studies to treatment of textile waste by adding mill waste to sewage in existing full scale treatment plants. Cone data will be available for use in waste studies in Greensboro.

Cone YMCA Board To Meet Tuesday

Board of Directors of the Cone Memorial YMCA will hold their regular meeting, Tuesday, August 16, at 7 o'clock as announced by Raymond Kincaid, president.

Chairmen of the following committees are asked to hold their meetings and bring a report to the board: Finance, R. C. Honeycutt; Physical: Julius Pickard; Boys and Girls, Herbert Hayes; House, Clarence Moss; Religious Education, C. L. Thornbro; World Service, Frank Starling; East White Oak, Rawley Meadows; Camp Herman, Colvin Williamson; Membership, Cecil Elmore and Canteen Service, T. Howard Ward.

Camp Herman Recreation Center Has Good Season

Camp Herman Recreation Center is enjoying one of its very best seasons for employees of Cone Mills and dependent members of their families in a full rounded program of recreational activities, including families in a full rounded program of recreational activities, including boating, fishing, swimming, water safety and life saving, recreational games on the campus of ping pong, shuffle board, softball volley ball, and hiking.

Tables are available on the campus to family groups who would like to fix lunch and go out for an outing. Reservations for larger groups should be made for the council ring, dining room, and other larger social centers.

Our schedule is 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday; 1:00 p.m., to 6:00 p.m., Sunday.

Dick Weaver is water front director and life guard, his assistant on week-ends is Richard Nicholson. Howard Nunn, caretaker, is also present to receive groups and arrange for their entertainment, and is in charge of the camp equipment.

Reservations may be telephoned or employees may take their families and go out, find a table and enjoy an outing among the tall, stately trees of Camp Herman.

Give Your Feet A Break!

Shoes are contraptions which if you don't wear them on your feet you are barefoot. If you do wear them you sometimes wish you didn't have to. Good shoes, like beautiful women, make you feel good to look at them. Bad shoes make you feel awful when you wear them.

Some shoes are full of holes and some aren't anything but soles held to your feet with straps. The less shoe a woman buys, the more she expects to pay for it.

Some of the best known men in history, including Woodrow Wilson, have had shoe trouble. Shoes had a lot to do with their good or

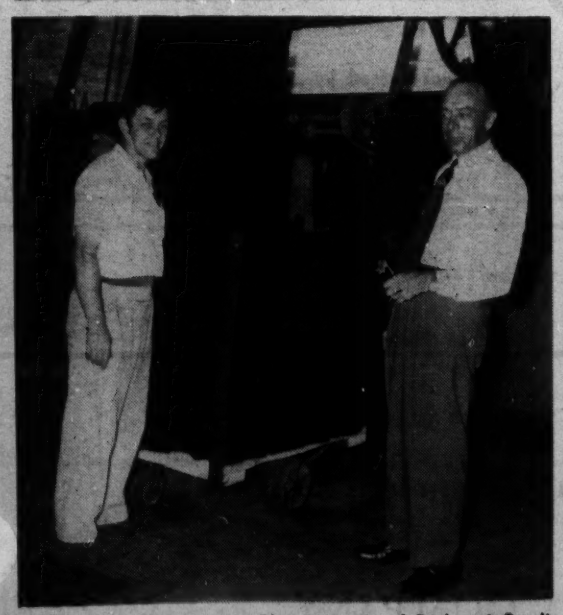
SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT TO BEGIN AUGUST 19 & 20

The annual Cone Mills Softball Tournament sponsored by the White Oak Y's Men Club will be held on August 19 and 20. The Print Works team will be out to defend their title. There will be four teams from the regular softball league to enter and two out of town teams from Haw River and Pineville Plants.

Parings for the tournament will be drawn-up the first of the week, so all managers from Greensboro, teams are asked to come by the YMCA and pick up parings sheets. Awards and trophies will be presented after the final game Saturday night.



FRENCH VISITOR—Herman Ritter, overseer of Dyeing at Granite Plant, Haw River, is shown with Paul Lambert, owner of several cotton mills in France and Africa, who recently toured the Cone Corduroy plant. A few years ago, a group of French textile executives toured White Oak Plant. This summer, Harvey Raymond, vice president of Cone Mills Inc., New York visited some of the textile mills of France.

COTTON CLASSER—William Curry Stinson, Jr., above, joined Cone Mills on August 1 as cotton classer in the Cotton Department, as noted in the July 22 issue of The Textorian. Mr. Stinson, a native of Greenwood, Miss. is a World War II veteran. He attended the University of Mississippi. He is married and has a son age six and a daughter five months.

White Oak Club To Meet Mon., August 15

White Oak Community Club will have its regular monthly meeting next Monday, August 15 in the grove across from the White Oak Y building. A watermelon feast will be held by the group at that time.

Revolution and Proximity-Print Works Community Clubs are invited and all club members are asked to contact their club presidents if they plan to attend.

Mr. Heiss Speaks To Exchange Club

Marion W. Heiss, vice president of Cone Mills Corporation, spoke to the Exchange Club of Greensboro this week emphasizing the effect of cheap cotton textiles from Japan on the American cotton textile industry.

Granite Supervisors Entertained At Dinner

The Young Adult Class of the Haw River Methodist Church served the Granite Plant Supervisors and their families and the office staff and their families at a buffet dinner on Sunday, July 24. The dinner was held in the Gymnasium of the high school.

Special guests for the affair included Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Green and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hughes of the Eno Plant in Hillsboro; Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mitchell of the Tabardrey Plant; Mr. Sydney M. Cone, Jr. of Greensboro; Rev. and Mrs. John Kittenger of Burlington; Rev. Robert Bruhn; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Crutchfield; Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Thompson; Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilkins; and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Brannon and children of Haw River.

Mr. Cone gave a very interesting talk concerning the work at the plant.

Arrangements for the dinner were under the supervision of Robert Scruggs, personnel manager at Granite Plant. Approximately 165 persons attended.

Mrs. Whitt Hostess To Church Circle

The members of the Sally Sims Circle of the Proximity Methodist Church were entertained at the home of Mrs. J. D. Whitt, on Route 2. A supper was served by Mrs. Whitt, Mrs. Frank Whitt, of the same address, and Mrs. J. W. Ritter.

Afterwards a program was presented by Mrs. Pat Hodges entitled "United Effort Toward a Better Life."

Mrs. Paul Holyfield, chairman, presided over the business meeting.

Other members present were Mesdames James Brewer, Woodrow Hanner, Russell Hussey, C. F. Noah, Herbert Ritter, John Scott, Garland Seabolt, F. O. Smith and Marvin Garrett.

A long face and a broad mind are rarely found under the same hat.

QUITE A CUCUMBER—Brenda and Pat Moriority, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick H. Moriority, 1315 Elmer Street, are proud of the cucumber grown in their garden. This one weighed two and a half pounds and was 15 inches long and 10 inches in circumference. The children's father is a loomfixer at Revolution Division Flannel Plant.

Don Thornton

Cone Employee Risks Life In Ocean Rescue

Don Thornton, employed in Cone Mills Laboratory, is the kind of hero you read in books. This 21-year old UNC graduate on Sunday afternoon, July 31 at Wrightsville Beach battled alone a very rough sea in rescuing Cpl. Kenneth E. Johnson, Camp Lejeune Marine who began going under about 50 yards out after he and his wife were caught by a swift current and tossed against a rock and piling jetty. After Don had saved the Marine, he hurried back into the incoming tide, about eight feet high, to save the man's bride of only five weeks.

Mrs. Johnson, 23, was caught by her bathing suit strap on a jetty covered with sharp barnacles. She could not swim. Don tried to get her bathing suit off, but the zipper was stuck. He managed to get her to put her arms around his neck so that he could push with his feet to try to free her. Just as he was about to do so, a hugh wave came over him and washed the woman's bathing suit down from her shoulders. She turned loose her grasp to pull up the bathing suit, and the terrific current washed her back against the jetty and her would-be rescuer was swept 25 feet away. Coming up for air, he quickly got the water out of his eyes and swam back to Mrs. Johnson. By this time she had gone under again. All this time huge waves were heavily breaking against them, forcing them back against the jetty, inflicting cuts and scratches on them.

Meanwhile, the husband had become panic stricken, and he came back into the water and was gripping Don, pleading with him to save his wife. So Don had to get the Marine back out of the way so that he could continue to try to save the young woman.

About 500 on-lookers had gathered at the scene, but not a single one would risk his life to help Don save the woman, because the ocean was so rough and the pair was so near the jetty that the onlookers had given up hope of either Don or Mrs. Johnson's getting out alive.

Finally after Don's terrible strug-

Seventh Annual Golf Tourney Begins Sept. 12

The Seventh Annual Cone Mills Golf Tournament will begin on September 12 with the qualifying rounds to be played the week of September 4 through September 11 at Green Valley Golf Club. Organizations sponsoring the tournament are the Y's Men's Clubs of Proximity and White Oak and the Cone Memorial Y.M.C.A.

Purpose of the tournament is to provide good wholesome competition between the golfers of the Cone Mills district.

Howard Garner, president of Proximity Y's Mens Club; Frank Starling, president of the White Oak Y's Mens Club and Fay Gilbert, physical director of the Cone Memorial YMCA, say that the 1955 Cone Mills Tournament will be the best in the seven years that they have sponsored this event.

Sam Wheeler, chairman of the Athletic Committee of the White Oak Y's Men's Club, stated that the tournament will be held in early September for the first time so that each golfer will have a little longer to sharpen up his game.

Russell Oldham, winner of the championship flight last year, will be ready to defend his title. He can expect a lot of competition from Arthur Rollins, Allan Laughlin, Carlton Freeman, Jim Marvin, Rudy Permar and Gordon Williams.

Golfers may get the entry blanks from the Personnel Assistant at each plant or Fay Gilbert at the Cone Memorial YMCA or Aubrey Apple, pro at Green Valley Golf Club.

Local Minister Attends Nat'l. School Of Alcohol Studies

Rev. L. E. Mabry, pastor of Newlyn Street Methodist Church, and Mrs. Mabry, have just returned from Sioux City Iowa, where Mr. Mabry was an official delegate from the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church to the National School of Alcohol Studies.

The following is reprinted from the North Carolina Christian Advocate:

Alcoholism is the nation's second largest health problem. Dr. Caradine R. Hooton, executive secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, told delegates to the fifth annual Adult School of Alcohol Studies and Christian Action which met at Morningside College, Sioux City, Iowa, July 13-20. Approximately 60 ministers and other church leaders from throughout the country attended the school. It was sponsored by the Board of Temperance which has headquarters in Washington, D. C.

There are more cases of alcoholism than there are cases of infantile paralysis, tuberculosis or cancer, he said.

"Any one approach to the alcohol problem is inadequate to meet the need." Dr. Hooton continued. "The

Senator Scott Recognizes Danger

When Senator Kerr Scott stated in a speech last Tuesday in Asheville, N. C., "If the flow of cheap imports is allowed to go unchecked, then it may well spell disaster for our entire textile industry," he pinpointed a realistic hazard which threatens the economy of North Carolina.

The Senator further stated that under tariff concessions agreed upon recently at Geneva, "It is easily possible for Japan and other foreign countries to flood the American market with cheap goods." He urged that the President impose quotas on imports which threaten domestic industries.

Governor Luther Hodges has also taken cognizance of the threatened peril to the thousands of North Carolinians whose jobs and investments are involved when he recently appointed a commission to study the situation.

No longer can there be any doubt that the American textile industry and even the cotton farmer will be seriously hurt unless positive steps are taken to prevent cheap wage countries from flooding the United States with textiles.

For at least five long years representatives of the industry have pointed out the potential dangers and have tried to awaken the Administration, Congress, the Tariff Commission, and the general public to the realities of the pending situation. Too frequently those who have been waging the battle in behalf of the industry and its several million workers have been accused of "calling wolf." Now more and more influential people are realizing that there is a real wolf capable of destroying our great textile industry.

We fully endorse the following comments by Senator Scott, "Free trade does not mean unfair trade. In order to have free trade I do not think anyone should expect us to abandon domestic industries we have spent many generations building up."

The Bible Speaks To Your Need

By Rev. W. L. Bennett, Pastor Sixteenth St. Baptist Church

(Rev. Bennett is a member of the Textile Ministerial Association and has volunteered to contribute to The Textorian from time to time. This paper welcomes occasional messages from other pastors in the local association also.)

The saddest word in our spiritual vocabulary is the word "lost." It is the saddest word ever spoken by Jesus. What is the meaning of this awful word? Jesus chose this word to describe the condition of every person in the world who has not been born again. In the very sound of the word, there is an unspeakable sadness and pathos; there is an awful loneliness. Lost! Lost! Lost

You may lose your money, your home, your character, your self-respect, your health, your family, your very life. Such losses are terrible. Yet none of these things I have mentioned is the saddest thing that can come to you, to me, or to humanity collectively. The saddest thing that can happen to any man is to lose his immortal soul. One might lose every valuable possession of this life and still have hope and, indeed, go to heaven at last. But "what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world and lose his soul, or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" (Matt. 16:26) The answer to this solemn question is nothing, absolutely nothing.

Who is lost? Every living person who has not repented and been redeemed from sin by the blood of Jesus Christ. This is true because the Bible declares in the first place that we are all born in sin, that is, born lost (Ps. 51:5, 58:3), and, secondly, "all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." (Rom. 3:22) So you ask, What must I do to be lost? The answer is nothing. That's right. Just don't do anything. Just remain in your natural state and you are already lost. "He that believeth not is condemned already." (John 3:18)

But, thank God, I don't have to stop there. There is a way out. God, for His great love wherewith He loved us, sent His Son into the world to seek for us and to save us. Did you know Christ had no reason for coming except for the lost? He came not to call the righteous but sinners to repentance. His mission is to the lost. Jesus said Himself. "For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost." (Luke 19-10) All who come to Him by faith, He receives, He saves, He gives the new birth. And to be saved is just the opposite of being lost. If you are lost, don't despair. Look to Christ.

More Good Ideas Cross The Border

Just as good neighbors U. S. and Canada share radio and TV programs, newspapers and magazines, so do they share their good ideas across the border—and one of them will be benefiting thousands of American men, women and children vacationing this summer in the Dominion.

This one—the Carlings Conservation Club—preserves and enhances the wild life of the Canadian provinces through an extensive program of effective education. Animals, birds and fish, especially in the great vacation areas of Ontario, have been increasingly propagated and protected through the Carlings program.

In the constant two-way exchange of good things across the border, a Carlings Conservation Club has been organized in the United States, utilizing the program for wild life preservation which is working so successfully in Canada.

Pineville News

by Mary Robinson and Inez Culp

Everyone enjoyed his vacation; some went to the mountains, some to the beaches. It was reported that some of our Pineville folks were seen as far North as Canada.

Miss Laverne Grace, daughter of Dorothy Grace celebrated her seventh birthday.

Employees of the Spinning Room are glad to have Mr. Elmo Scott back after a two-weeks vacation.

Newlyn St. Church Revival Now On

Summer revival began on August 3, and will continue through August 14. The Reverend R. L. Young, pastor of Centenary Methodist Church of this city, is the visiting minister. Rev. Mr. Young will speak each night at 7:30, and Sunday, August 14 at 11:00 o'clock service, and also at the 7:30 service. The public is most cordially invited to attend any or all of these services.

The Homecoming on last Sunday was well attended. The Reverend C. W. Russell a former pastor spoke at the 11:00 o'clock service, after which a picnic lunch was served in the social hall of the church.

Sunday, August 21, will be Membership Sunday. At the morning service members will be welcomed into the church, both by church vows and by letters of transfer from other denominations and from other Methodist churches.

Our Sunday School came back near normal in attendance last Sunday. "You will find a welcome in the Sunday School, and if you have no church home, you are most cordially invited to make this church your church." The minister, Rev. L. E. Mabry, will be at Lake Junaluska most of this next week attending the Jurisdictional Conference of the Methodist Church on Alcohol Studies and Christian Action.

Rev. Mr. Mabry will return to administer Holy Communion at the Youth Activities Week, Friday night at Newlyn Street. This Youth Week is sponsored jointly by Carraway Memorial, St. Paul's and Newlyn Street Methodist Churches with services Sunday and Monday evenings at Carraway, Tuesday and Wednesday at St. Paul, Thursday and Friday at Newlyn Street. All Services are in charge of the youth of the three churches.

Atoms For Peace

Life in our land stands a good chance of being revolutionized for the better in the near future, through the application of atomic energy to peaceful uses. Already some 1,200 firms are in stiff competition in developing atomic energy in medicine, science, and industry—and competition in our free enterprise system always has meant progress, to the advantage of all.

White Oak Matrons To Have Picnic

White Oak Matrons will have a picnic at Camp Herman for their monthly meeting Tuesday, August 16. All members are invited to meet at Proximity YMCA at 11 a.m.; however, those who would like to go straight to the camp should be there by 11:15.

Each member is asked to pack a picnic lunch. Soft drinks will be furnished.

LAUNDRY TIPS

There's a lot being said — and done — these days about bathroom laundry combinations. What is more convenient than to have your washer and dryer where your soiled clothes and linens are stored between washings? When it comes to laundering shower curtains, it's only a matter of changing tubs. And that is what this column is about . . .

During the summer when your shower is working overtime keeping the family cool, plastic shower curtains are apt to lose their color and crispness. According to Marcia Mead, home service director for Whirlpool Corporation, these curtains can be successfully laundered and softened in an automatic washer. Fill washer tub with warm water and add twice the amount of water softener you usually use to condition the water. Set the timer for three minutes and complete cycle automatically. That's all there is to it!

Plastic is not absorbent so curtains may be hung immediately after they are removed from spin-dry cycle of washer. If you prefer, curtains may be dried in an automatic dryer providing temperature is under 120°. The delicate fabrics cycle of the Imperial electric dryer is perfect for this.

CONE EMPLOYEE RISKS

gle against the sharp barnacles the jetty and strong waves and current, two life guards from a nearby beach came to assist in getting the woman out. But it was too late. Her death was caused by drowning and severe cuts that she received.

Don, is very modest about his heroic deed. Naturally, he regrets deeply the fact that he was unable to save the wife as well as the husband. He will always feel that if the woman had not let go her grasp of him in order to pull up her suit, he could have saved her.

Don drove his car back to Greensboro Sunday night and was at work next day.

The newly married couple were from Maine originally. The man had served four years in the Navy and is now with the Marines.

Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Thornton of Wilmington. He received his B.S. in Business Administration from the University of North Carolina this past June. A native of Greensboro, he moved away when a child.

During last summer, Don served as lifeguard at Wrightsville, having received his Red Cross life saving certificate.

"This was the worst tragedy at Wrightsville for over 50 years," declared Don. "I surely hope that will be a lesson to everyone going into the ocean. Please stay away from those jettys. They are dangerous."

Cone Memorial Y Now At Proximity

Cone Memorial YMCA program, operated for many years in two branches at White Oak and Proximity, has now been consolidated and is being operated at Proximity, and will be known as the Cone Memorial Young Men's Christian Association.

All membership records have been moved to that building, and all members are requested to come to Proximity for all of their bathing, swimming, physical education, social and recreational privileges. Adequate provision has been made to accommodate all of members, giving them the same service as offered in the two branches. Hours of operation are 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.

Social groups from the various churches, schools, plants, or community groups are requested to call in and make reservations. We feel that we can take care of your social needs for showers, birthday parties, wedding receptions and other group meetings. Call 8388 for all of your social needs.

AMERICA BY 1975

America by 1975 will be a land in which the demand for food will result in a 42 per cent increase of food products.

The National Association of Manufacturers cites a report of President's Materials Policy Commission regarding the expected development.

". . . The demand for farm products, including those required as raw materials for industry, is expected to rise steadily over the next 25 years. Within the Commission's basic assumptions, including a doubling of the gross national product by 1975, an increase of 40 percent in the demand for all products of the land except timber seems reasonable. This 40 per cent figure is derived from estimates that a 1975 population of 193 million (28 per cent larger than 1950) will require production of 42 percent more food, on a constant value basis . . ."

Who's a Capitalist?

There are millions of them in America, for a capitalist is . . . .

. . . every man and woman who has a savings account, a life insurance policy, or a share of stock . . .

. . .the families that are seeking to set aside something for their old age, the people who are looking beyond the mere desire for a shorter work week to the hope of providing a shorter working life for themselves, a better future for their children . . .

. . .the millions of people, in a word, who deny themselves the luxuries of today in order to provide the necessities of tomorrow.

bad dispositions and with our dispositions too.

Shoes can be made to make you look taller or smaller. Women used to wear shoes to make their feet look smaller, but that was before big feet became the fashion.

Shoes come in all colors: black, brown, white, green, wine, yellow, blue, red, purple, magenta, orange, pink, and various two and three tone combinations. The most colorful are in eight colors, four on each shoe.

Good shoes will improve your general health. They can make your back more comfortable and keep your feet and legs from getting tired. They will protect your feet from bumps and falling objects.

Good shoes are a source of satisfaction to their owner. He enjoys wearing them because they are both comfortable and good looking.

Weak and worn out shoes, or ill-fitting shoes, or poorly constructed shoes cause discomfort, bad health, and ruin the disposition. They can be the primary cause of fallen arches, back trouble, leg trouble, foot injuries, and corns.

Good shoes are not expensive, in fact they are more economical than cheap shoes.

Cheap shoes, worn-out shoes, slippers, or sandals, when worn to work in, will prove much more expensive than good work shoes or oxfords.

Give your feet a break. Give them good shoes to wear and they'll take good care of you.

LOCAL MINISTER ATTENDS

Methodist Church has a new positive program to help solve the problem. It includes education, religious commitment, rehabilitation and legislation. This is the program now being used by local churches all over the nation."

"This school is unique," he said. "It is the only one that trains church leaders in scientific information, Christian evaluation and practical plans for improving present conditions."

Prof. Albion Roy King, Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, said that people do not use alcohol because they have a habit.

"The word habit merely describes the fact that drinking is repeated," he explained. "They have the habit because they get from the alcohol some satisfaction of psychological needs."

Dr. King listed the psychological needs which are commonly satisfied by the use of alcohol as excitement, relaxation, sociability and escape.

"Chronic alcoholism is a problem which developes over the years," Dr. George Harding, medical director of the Harding Sanatorium, Worthington, Ohio, said. He divided alcoholism into three periods:

"The early signs include broken promises, rationalizing the drinking, lying about the amount and drinking before parties. This may last as long as 10 years.

"The middle phase may last for several years. It is characterized by a more extravagant behavior, frequent intoxication, secret source of supply and work absences.

"The final stage is the morning drinking, the use of alcohol instead of food, inability to work and complications, such as, delirium tremens and deterioration."

Dr. Edward D. Staples, director of the department of the Christian family, Methodist Board of Education, said that the home has a major responsibility in preparing young persons for marriage, for helping them to recognize the dangers of using alcohol and for strengthening them to meet emergencies when they arise.

"One of the frequent causes of friction in marriage is the family budget, or lack of it," he revealed. "Mismanagemennt of income, overbuying on easy credit and inadequate income to meet all the family's wants often cause trouble. Drinking is an expensive habit and frequently drains off funds which could be spent for necessities."

Rev. Woodrow W. Kern, Narberth, Pa., emphasized the importance of the church in the temperance movement. The minister, through preaching, is in a strategic position to proclaim the temperance message, he said.

Mr. Kern urged that all local churches observe Commitment Sunday and that illustrations and references to temperance be made in many sermons throughout the year.

Other speakers at the school included Dr. Everett Tilson, a theology professor at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.; Rev. Thomas J. Shipp, a Dallas Tex. minister who has done extensive work among alcoholics, and Roger Burgess, a member of the Board of Temperance staff.
